CUSTOMISED TRAINING SOLUTIONS

Many of our courses can also be run on in-house basis. In addition we also assist organisations by designing customised training solutions. Customised training programmes are designed to consolidate and integrate the key issues of the learning objectives, which are then linked to organisational strategy and culture, in order to be fully effective. Programmes can be followed-up to ensure that the needed change takes place.

A customized programme can be designed to address issues faced by a single organization, and, if carefully managed, can become a powerful agent for change.

Different organisations have different needs

Sometimes an off the shelf or public course will not be entirely relevant. In order to meet your specific needs our training consultants will work closely with you to design learning solutions which address both the developmental needs of the individual as well as being practical and relevant for day to day business.

Tailoring can be simply a matter of altering an existing course but may involve developing from scratch to be totally bespoke to your requirements.

Often critical components involved may include :

- Length of course. (Typically courses can vary from 2 days to 5 days)
- Choosing examples which impact your business the most
- Using a range of learning tools
- Using client terminology to ensure the message is consistent
- Worked examples and case studies

A customised training course from InterAfrica Group is designed from the ground up to meet the needs of your organisation in all its uniqueness. This is the best way of ensuring that you get maximum value out of your investment in training.

When we say customised training ...

We have developed a tried and tested approach to the development of in-house programmes, namely one where it customises programmes according to the specific needs of both the organisation involved as well as the needs of the target group. This approach is in sharp contrast to the conventional approach where existing programmes are taken as the point of departure, and minor changes are brought about.

When we prepare a customised training course, we ensure that all key aspects of the course are tailored to your individual needs. These aspects include:

Scope – you decide what topics and issues are to be covered, as well as the duration of the course

Theory – we provide the exact amount and type of theoretical back-ground needed to make the most of the practical training

Practical training – this is tailored precisely to your own plant and to the scope of the training course

Case studies – these are carefully selected to ensure they apply to your operations

Materials – we provide expertly developed materials that reinforce your learning

Cultural aspects – we consider more than just the equipment, also tailoring our training to the way you operate your plant

This amounts to a training course that is truly customised, meeting your exact needs.

Our Approach

Our approach to tailored learning and development consists of designing and delivering the appropriate solution for each client.

To be successful across both of these elements, we work in partnership with our clients. Our solutions will seek to address the developmental needs of individuals as well as any relevant organisational challenges.

Our tailored approach, adopting a rigorous and successful design methodology, ensures we are able to produce a range of engaging learning programmes which aim to stimulate behavioural change in the workplace.

Our customisation approach is based on the principle of a partnership between us and your organization in which we are both involved. In this partnership the partners co-design and co-present the learning intervention.

This requires the InterAfrica Group to also research the strategic direction of the company and the strategic issues they face in order to ensure that the programme develops the competencies required to fulfill the goal of the organisation.

Tailored Training Solutions

Bespoke services based on proven solutions and professional input.

InterAfrica Group has a strong track record of working with 'single clients' to develop new solutions from scratch; bespoke existing programmes or run events for single client organisations.

The range of what we offer is extensive. Our reputation is strong in this area as clients demand training and development solutions that are timely, delivered on their site or other choice of location and set within their context.

The added benefit is that single client solutions develop your leaders together.

We have an extensive team of consultants and associates drawn from across different industries and sectors who can work on specific topics seen through our organisational lenses.

All of our 'Leading edge programmes' are also available to be run on-site for single organisations from single day events to short sessions. These workshops bring leading thinkers to your organisation to help you guide organisational conversations and to stimulate new ideas and possibilities.

We speak your language.

Each customised workshop is the product of hours of research into how your company does business, the risks and issues it faces, the sort of contracts it encounters.

Relevant case-studies and topical exercises ensure that delegates can instantly relate their new learning to their everyday working environment. And the confidential environment means that delegates can obtain answers to difficult business questions that a public course would not allow.

Value for money

Customised training is often the best solution for plants acquiring new equipment or facing specific challenges with existing lines.

Focusing exclusively on the topics agreed between you and FLSmith Institute, every minute of a customised training course helps you meet the challenges you face. This ensures unparalleled value for money and a very fast return on investment.

Consultancy and Training Need analyses

Correctly identifying where leadership strengths and weaknesses lie can be deceptively difficult.

Understanding too the solution that will work requires an in-depth understanding of organisational development, systemic change and individual capabilities. Our team of consultants, from wide background of public and private sector services, cover a range of experience and skills. They are able to work with you on a consultancy basis to undertake diagnostic work on a variety of issues including leadership development at an organisational or team level.

Research

Our range of consultants can undertake research that draws on our wide range of subject expertise and research capability. Research is provided in the form of qualitative and quantitative analysis delivered within strong methodological framework.

Our Commitment To You...

When you choose InterAfrica Group as your customised training solutions provider you will get much more than just training.

Our aim is a simple one...to deliver training solutions to exceed your expectations!

We want you to be so pleased with your decision to buy our programmes, you'll recommend your contacts to us.

- You will receive a personalised service working with the same people from concept to delivery...we will create a partnership to better understand your needs.
- A thorough 'training needs analysis' will be carried out to enable us to deliver tailored solutions to your business and the very best possible results to your people.
- Your training programme will be managed completely by us, taking away the stresses and strains of designing your training programme, leaving you free to focus on your business.
- A structured training programme will be developed, providing your people with a logical approach to learning that's easy to follow and apply.
- Our programmes will include the development of action plans that your team can implement in the workplace to ensure long-term impact of their training.
- Regular evaluation and feedback on our performance is always welcomed and will be formally received, enabling us to constantly look for new ways to improve the service you receive.

Want to talk?

If you're thinking about designing a custom executive program, we encourage you to give us a call.

We believe that the best way to begin this process is to have a conversation about your organization's challenges and goals. We can tell you whether a custom programme might be a good idea for your organization, and if so, we'd be happy to be part of the solution.
